Job description:

Lubricants is Canada's leading brand of high performance commercial industrial and automotive lubricants greases and oils. Much more than a lubricant company we are a leader in providing business solutions and growth opportunities to our thousands of loyal dealers and end users. For over 35 years we have helped our customers grow by developing market-leading products delivering them through our dedicated distribution network and standing behind our quality promise.

Our mission is to provide best-in-class service to our customers from onboarding to after-sales support. We are a dynamic entrepreneurial and flat organization that offers exciting growth opportunities for talented professionals searching for a new challenge.

We are currently searching for an Accounting Clerk to join our team.

The Role Philosophy

We're on the hunt for an Accounting CL to join our Langley HQ! As a key member of our team you'll collaborate closely with our Leadership Team to drive our mission of building a world-class lubricant brand that helps our dealers build their business.

It's an exciting time to join KLONDIKE as we're planning to grow twofold over the next three years! We're planning to expand our product line depth establish hundreds of dealers throughout the US and so much more.

As part of our growth this is an opportunity where you'll be empowered to take ownership of your work and make a meaningful impact on our company's growth and success contributing to our business objectives now and into the future.

We're looking for a strong Accounting Clerk who is experienced with accounts payable and receivable processes general ledger accounting account reconciliations financial data entry and bookkeeping tasks. If this sounds like you and you're passionate about joining a fast-growing brand and rolling up your sleeves as we build this is where YOU come in.
